

SOIL SCIENCE AUSTRALIA

The Victorian Branch invites you to:

An information evening on Careers in Soils and related areas.

The Victorian Branch of Soil Science Australia are holding an information evening on the theme of careers involving soil science and related technologies. The evening should be of particular interest to students with backgrounds in agricultural science, earth and environmental science and engineering who would like to work in soil related areas. This includes work in contaminated land.

A panel of speakers has been assembled to provide information and advice on career planning. The evening will also include time for informal discussion with the speakers and drinks and pizza will be provided.

When: Tuesday, September 24th 2019 from 5.00 pm.

Where: Room G60, School of Earth, Atmosphere and Environment, 9 Rainforest Walk

Monash University, Clayton Campus, Wellington Rd, Clayton, (park in N1 multi-story carpark - no parking charge after 5 pm (map))

Speakers on the panel will include representatives from environmental consultancies (Coffey and Environmental Earth Sciences), the Victorian government and the agricultural sector.

Registration Fees:

$6 to cover catering

Please register by 12pm Monday September 23rd and pay on-line through Eventbrite at:

<https://www.eventbrite.com.au/e/an-information-evening-on-careers-in-soils-and-related-areas-tickets-72024742945>

For further information contact Tony Patti (tony.patti@monash.edu), School of Chemistry, Monash University or Vanessa Wong, School of Earth Atmosphere and Environment, Monash University (vanessa.wong@monash.edu)